

Lightning Elks Provincial champions

LIGHTNING STRIKES AT PROVINCIALS!

Elk Point Bantam Lightning Elks downed Rimbey Red Wings after 8 minutes and 2 seconds of overtime in the championship final game of Bantam C Provincial Tournament before a packed and jubilant crowd of Elk Point fans Sunday evening. Conway Roscoe scored the winning goal in the game and broke a 37-minute 3-3 tie.

Elk Point Lightning Elks were declared the winners of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association's Bantam C Provincial championship Sunday night, but the final game against Rimbey Red Wings was a fight to the finish.

It didn't look like much of a battle in the first period, when Elk Point's Loren Kozicky scored two early goals, assisted by Neil Kozicky in the first and Shaun Morozuk in the second for a 2 point lead which prevailed for a full 21 minutes.

Six minutes into the second period, Rimbey hit the scoreboard, with a goal by Tanner Bratland, assisted by Travis Lee. Bratland added an unassisted goal 4 1/2 minutes later to tie the game. Elk Point lost no time in retrieving their lead, with a goal by team captain Marty Bendixen ten seconds later, off an assist by Conway Roscoe, but this was answered in just over half a minute, when Kyle Mathers scored for Rimbey to tie the game, with a minute less than half the game remaining.

The two goalies, Rimbey's Eugene Brewer and Elk Point's BJ Tucker, were the stars of the second half, both steadfastly repelling all would-be scorers, to maintain the tie to the end of regulation time.

Tension mounted as the game went into a 10-minute overtime, both teams making a valiant effort to break the tie.

Jubilant Elk Point fans erupted in glee when Conway Roscoe scored the winning goal 8 minutes and 2 seconds into overtime, off assists by Marty Bendixen and Ferlin Quinney.

The Lightning Elks were presented with a Provincial plaque and gold medals, while the Red Wings accepted the silver medals. Banners were presented to both teams.

It was an excellent tournament for the well-matched teams, Elk Point winning 10-6 over Beaverlodge, 8-3 over Magrath and 8-5 over

Breakfast meetings for Chamber

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is trying a new strategy of increasing attendance at meetings, by holding their first meeting of each month at 7:30 a.m. The second meeting would remain at the present noontime slot. The first breakfast meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, April 5.

Physician recruitment has been a longstanding problem in the Elk Point area, with many attempts to attract additional doctors producing very little results. Recruitment of new doctors has traditionally been the role of the Hospital Board, however that Board will be dissolving at the end of this month, and it has been suggested that the Chamber take over the job, with the assistance of Dr. Drew Ramful and Marvin Bjornstad. The Board has donated $500 to help the Chamber with advertising costs. Hospital Administrator Clem Johnson felt this could be an opportune time to seek a doctor, in light of the many health care cuts.

The Chamber is writing to MP Deborah Grey to state their objections to the Public Utilities Transfer Act. We currently have a privately owned power company which has been subsidized by the federal government, however this act would bring that subsidization to an end and significantly increase power costs in Alberta.

The Chamber will also voice their concerns regarding the possible discontinuation of the FCSS Act and regulations, which means that FCSS departments in communities across

Gun storage meeting March 27

In the St. Paul region, over the last six years, there have been three fatalities involving children killing siblings by accessing firearms which were improperly stored. The most recent incident occurred in the Lloydminster region over the 1994 Christmas holidays, involving two children, a shotgun and a handgun. Fortunately it did not involve a fatality.

There is much confusion at the individual gun owner level as to what constitutes "legal" long gun, handgun and ammunition storage. Therefore, many gun owners have neglected to buy or manufacture storage units for them.

There are also differing opinions between individual RCMP officers and detachments, and between Crown Prosecutors, as to what constitutes proper gun and ammunition storage.

Area gun owners have indicated that they will be willing to spend the required dollars to store their firearms in a safe manner, once a public forum clearly indicates what compliance with the 1993 gun storage law means.

Young children will be less likely to access firearms that are properly stored and this should greatly reduce the potential for tragedy.

A public meeting regarding legally acceptable storage will take place on Monday, March 27 starting at 7 p.m. in the Elk Point Elks Hall. Presentations will be given by: Sgt. John Humphrey of Elk Point RCMP, regarding why and how recommendations for charges are made to Crown Prosecutors and the necessity of search warrants other than for 'hot pursuit' and problem wildlife aspects of the gun laws; Irv Yaverbaum, Justice Department, Edmonton, why charges are prosecuted, Firearms Acquisition Certificate dos and don'ts, and fines and prison sentences; and Wally Bland, Chief Firearms Officer's office in Edmonton, regarding what constitutes legally acceptable storage.

F. G. Miller Spring Concert

By Kelly Oszust

F. G. Miller High School

On March 9, the junior high bands held their Spring Concert. Grades 7, 8 and 9 participated in the concert.

The beginning of the program started out with the Grade 9 band playing "I Believe in Music," "A Whole New World" and "The Lion Sleeps Tonight." The first two selections were both conducted by the new student teacher, Mr. Dean Tower. The Grade 9 final song was done with no conductor.

Second in the program was Grade 7. They are the largest band in the school, numbering 22. The first song they played was "Russian Song and Dance." This selection represented a funeral march at first, then speeded up to a dance. Their second selection was "March of Kings," which comes from the 13th century. Both selections were played exceptionally well, seeing as this is their first year in band and their first concert. Both selections were conducted by Mr. Randall Kryes.

Next to play was Grade 8. Since the Grade 8s are a small band, numbering only 12, they are a stage jazz band, which is quite different from the usual concert band. They played a number of upbeat songs, such as "My Boyfriend's Back," "The Adams Family" and "We Will Rock You." Mr. Kryes conducted the first song, and Mr. Tower the second song. In the final selection, both Mr. Kryes and Mr. Tower joined the band in playing, Mr. Kryes on the trombone and Mr. Tower on the trumpet. This selection was played exceptionally well, with a powerful solo performance by Mary Easthope on the Alto Saxophone.

Ending the program was the Grade 9 band once again, playing "Hava Nagila," "Viennese Sonatina No. 1," and "Song and Dance." All selections were conducted by Mr. Kryes.

the province could be totally disbanded. The Chamber will lobby Premier Klein, MLA Paul Langevin and Minister of Municipal Affairs Tom Thurber to retain government support for the program.

Retail Merchants Committee chair Barb Croteau told the Chamber that the committee will be holding meetings separate from the Chamber and will be giving updates at Chamber meetings.

Good Luck at Midget Provincials Elk Point Thunder

RIMBEY RED WINGS - were the Silver Medal winners at Bantam C Provincials in Elk Point, losing in the final game to the host team. The Red Wings played an excellent game, and came from behind to tie the game and keep it tied.

F.C.S.S. News

Strong families are the committed families

Deep Commitment to Family: An important quality in strong families is commitment. Strong families are deeply committed to the family unit and to promoting the happiness and welfare of each other. Families share experiences that make the family more important than other groups.

What Commitment Is: What does commitment really mean? It means that the family comes first. Yes, of course, there are other important demands - work, recreation, community activities, PTA, church, Scouts, 4-H... The list goes on and on. But, commitment to the family means that decisions are made about the use of time and energy by everyone in the family so that there is quality time, not left-over time, for family activities, talking together, working and playing together.

In fact, commitment to family seems to be the foundation on which other family strengths are built. If there is strong commitment to family, members take time to be together. They learn how to communicate openly and build each other's self esteem. They work together to build and share strong values, and they find support from each other in times of crisis.

What Commitment Is Not: Sometimes when we read or think about strong families with deep commitment, we can get a picture of a perfect family - a family with no problems where things always seem to work out right for everyone. Nothing could be further from the truth! First of all, there's no such thing as a perfect family. Even families that may appear to have no problems from the outside, often face difficulties that others are not aware of. In fact, strong committed families are real people who live in the same world as everyone else.

The secret of their strength lies in the fact that family members are willing to see the problems that are there and to work on them. If a particular family finds itself too busy with outside activities, members agree to cut back on outside commitments. If another family finds communication difficult, between spouses or parent and child, members work together to learn how to talk and listen openly and honestly. This may mean reading or taking a class on communication, or it may mean spending a few sessions with a counsellor who can teach the family new skills.

In other words, commitment means doing something about the problems instead of ignoring them. This is very different than simply being committed to staying together no matter what.

Commitment Within The Marriage: A strong marriage means sexual fidelity. An extramarital affair poses such a threat to a couple that the marriage relationship may be destroyed. As one man put it, "I know it seems like everybody is having affairs - if you can believe the gossip - but we are old-fashioned and faithful. I can only imagine bad things from an affair: deceit, hurt, family break-up. Being true to each other reinforces our bond." Another person states, "When one partner has an affair, it does bad things to the self-esteem of the other. It gives the message you are not special, you are replaceable."

At the same time, it is true that there have been in the past and still are today strong families in which there has been infidelity. Some couples are able to overcome this crisis and go on to develop a healthier, more loving relationship than before the affair. One thing is sure - it takes time, patience and hard work to rebuild trust that has been broken.

Heavy Work Demands: One or both spouses with heavy work time commitments can threaten a family's well-being. We often look more positively on workaholicism than we do on alcoholism or infidelity, but too much time or energy spent on work can threaten any family. Obviously, adults cannot and usually would not want to quit their jobs in order to have family time. One thing that parents can do is to remind themselves of what things are of lasting importance and value.

Balancing work and family can be difficult and different families will find different solutions. For one family it might mean a parent saying no to excessive job travel, overtime hours or even to a promotion that will leave little time for family. For another family, it may mean developing a plan for one or both parents to actually change to a less demanding job. For still another, one or the other parent may decide to take some years off from the job in order to care for home, children or older family members.

No one solution can work for every family, but most families need to consciously plan to allow enough time to be with each other.

Next week we'll look at building family commitment and ideas for setting family goals.

BABYSITTING COURSE TO RUN APRIL 3, 5 and 6

The St. John's Ambulance Babysitting Course will run April 3, 5 and 6 from 3:30 to 6:00 p.m. in the FCSS Office beside the Elks Hall. Participants must be 11 years of age or older. Participants will learn first aid, what to do in an emergency, the type of information they should get from the parent they are babysitting for, feeding techniques, bathing techniques and more. The cost is $20 and this includes the workbook. All participants need to bring a doll to this course. For further information or to register call 724-3800.

CAN YOU HELP?

The home of Randy Falenda, Karen Mildenburger and their four children was destroyed by fire. All types of household furniture, household items and clothing are needed and can be dropped off at the Baptist Church, Home Town Grocers and FCSS. A fund to assist the family has also been established and cash donations can be taken to Shoes R Us at the Plaza 75 Mall.

Town of Champions

Now we can call ourselves the Town of Champions.

Elk Point Bantam Lightning Elks have become the first minor hockey team in the 21-year history of the A. G. Ross Arena to win a provincial championship. It was a long wait, but that makes the winning even sweeter.

What made it sweeter yet was that virtually the whole town was out there to cheer on their hometown heroes as they fought valiantly to regain the lead they had held early in the game. People who almost never go to hockey games were there with the yearlong hockey fans to lend their support to the boys as they doggedly kept up the rapid pace of the game. Rimbey had far less fans to cheer them on, and it was good to hear Elk Point cheering their efforts from time to time as well.

The two goalies were the stars of the show for what must have seemed like aeons to them, even if in reality it was a mere 37 minutes that they kept their opposition from scoring. That's a long, long time to hold the fort against a raging battle. And of course, Conway Roscoe became an instant hero with his winning goal.

It wasn't only Elk Point's team, and of course the others from across the province, that made the weekend great. The huge contingent of volunteers who offered their time - some barely leaving the premises long enough to sleep - made this a weekend that will long be remembered. A tremendous effort was put forth by everyone involved, from those who manned the doors and sold draw tickets to those who poured an endless stream of coffee and those who served on the tournament regulatory committees.

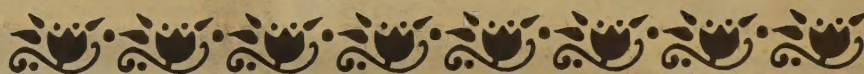

This is an event which should be commemorated in perpetuity. How about a huge (but tasteful) sign proclaiming us "The Town of Champions?"

And... Good luck to the Midget Thunder this weekend - how about making it two championships in a row?

SKATING CLUB APPRECIATES ITS COACHING STAFF

Milestones

Long time resident turns eighty

Longtime area resident Doris Aarbo celebrated her 80th birthday on March 12. Born Doris Young in the community of Youngstown, named after her father, she dreamed of becoming a school teacher, but the 'dirty thirties' intervened, drought and financial disaster forced them to uproot and move northward to the Lindbergh-Elk Point area.

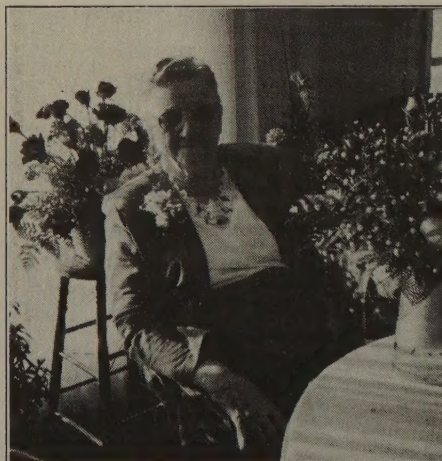

Her uncle, who had moved to the area some years earlier, joked to Doris on her arrival that he had picked out a husband for her: a farmer who had grown a carload of wheat the previous year. As fate would have it, she soon met that farmer, named Jens Aarbo, and married him, settling on the farm east of Elk Point which is now known as Aarbo Ranching, and which encompasses the original quarter homesteaded by Tom Aarbo 90 years ago.

Jens' dream was to have four sons, making farmers and hockey players of all of them. The Aarbos had their four boys, plus two girls, and Doris had a dream of her own for all of them - the education she never had the chance to achieve. By their commitment to their family, hard work and sacrifice, the Aarbos were able to give their children this education, in a time before student loans were available. Doreen became a teacher, Victor attended agricultural college, Marvin attended business college, Loretta became a nurse and Ken studied oil technology. Harvey jokes that he attended 'the school of hard knocks.'

Through all those years, Doris proved to be a perfect mother, a faithful mate, an extraordinary manager, never losing sight of her goals and never knowing what weakness meant. She lost her husband in 1974, but carried on faithfully standing up for right and wrong at all costs and setting a fine example for her family.

Her last dream is that her children, 17 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren will stand strong for the same principles she and her loving husband stood for.

Doris Aarbo

What's News at the Library?

Award-winning books received from Foundation for Arts

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

Last Wednesday I attended a meeting of local librarians in St. Paul. This meant I had the pleasure of travelling back to Elk Point during the delightful weather we experienced. Don't you just love March in Alberta?

The Alberta Foundation for the Arts has donated two books to the library. Both books are by Alberta authors and both are award winners. The McIntyre Liar by David Bly won the Alberta Writing-For-Youth Award in 1994. This is the hilarious story of Kevin "Muskrat" Winslow, a Calgary teen, who is banished to a summer job on a southern Alberta ranch. He starts a newspaper that ridicules everyone on the ranch, including his boss.

Naturally, Muskrat isn't too popular after this escapade.

The second donation is Beneath the Faceless Mountain by Roberta Rees, winner of the Alberta New Fiction Competition. Rees, who grew up in the Crowsnest Pass, tells stories of the people who live in this particular corner of Alberta.

We have other new books newly arrived as well:

For all you insomniacs out there, we have Midnight Snacks: The Cookbook That Glows in the Dark by Carol and Andrew Schneider. This collection of quick and easy snack food recipes can be enjoyed at midnight or anytime the munchies strike. Highlights include: "A Whole Chapter on Peanut Butter" and "Food as a Wake-Up Call." And yes, I tested it, the book does glow in the dark.

Film fans can come in and browse through the 1995 edition of Roger Ebert's Video Companion, new to the reference section. This substantial book contains full-length reviews of movies on video as well as interviews and essays. The book contains over 1300 reviews of what Ebert calls "the best, most popular, most important, or even worst movies since 1970."

Once again the latest additions to several youth series have arrived. Sweet Valley High an Twins, Babysitters and their Little Sister, the Hardy Boys and Nancy Drew. We also have a new series, "Star Trek: The Next Generation."

Heart and Stroke campaign a big success

Heart and Stroke Campaign convener Hazel Hannah reports that this year's campaign was a big success, with over $2400 raised. This was well in excess of the campaign goal of $2000.

Many thanks to all who generously donated toward this life-saving cause, and to all those who volunteered their time to conduct the campaign this past February.

Crusader girls end a successful year

Elk Point Senior Girls concluded a truly successful season with the excitement of the Provincial tournament in Picture Butte, which coach Ray Danyluk said was a great experience, although the team lost out in the consolation finals.

The players attending the tournament "were treated like royalty - it was awe-inspiring," Danyluk said.

The Crusaders entered the tournament ranked fifth in the province, and played their first game against fourth-ranked Vauxhall. "We gave them their hardest game. We scored 68 points against them, 15 to 20 more than their other opponents." However, Danyluk said that in the first half of the game "we were nervous - including the coach. We started playing in the second half," too late for a victory.

Their second game was a victory over Devon, which put them in the consolation final against Fairview. This game was close throughout, but ran into trouble with fouls, and "we just couldn't quite do it."

Danyluk gave special thanks for the tremendous parent support the team received for their Provincials trip.

Provincials

Athabasca to take on Sedgewick in the semi-final, while Rimbey defeated Smoky Lake 6-3, Oyen 8-7, and Sedgewick 10-4, to advance to the semi-final against Beaverlodge.

The weekend was a busy one for the vast army of volunteers who kept things moving smoothly from its beginning at 8 a.m. Friday to the final game Sunday evening. Highlighting Friday's program were the Opening Ceremonies at 8 p.m., which began with the singing of O Canada by Travis Pankiw. The eight participating teams were led in by members of the Elk Point Figure Skating Club, and stood at attention while four minor hockey players, Megan Tucker, Penny Quinney, Sheena Flamand and Tammy Legacy, paraded the flags.

Brief speeches of welcome came from Elk Point Mayor Ed Buck, MLA Paul Langevin, Elk Point Minor Hockey Association President Doug Callbeck, Alberta Amateur Hockey Association representative Vern Paul and Tournament Chairman Doug Bassett.

Mayor Ed Buck officiated in the ceremonial face-off, between Elk Point Lightning Captain Marty Bendixen and Magrath Black Devils captain Dustin Godlonton, prior to an exciting game between those teams.

Saturday's activities included a pancake breakfast at the arena and a banquet at the Elks Hall.
